Where You Will Test

PNCB utilizes the services of Prometric to assist in the administration, scoring, and analysis of the PNCB's CPN, CPNP and PMHS exams. Prometric is an independent testing agency and the leading provider of testing services and solutions for corporate, academic, government, financial and professional service clients.

Exam Eligibility Approval & Scheduling Notification

PNCB exam candidates are ready to schedule their exam with Prometric after they receive an official eligibility approval and scheduling notification by email and postcard from PNCB. Emails and postcards are sent to contact information included on the candidate's exam application. Candidates are responsible for keeping contact information current with PNCB.

A detailed letter about eligibility approval and scheduling notification will also be available to each candidate by logging in at www.pncb.org and clicking "My Documents". Download your eligibility letter immediately and read the instructions on how to schedule your exam.

Testing Windows

The notification described above informs each candidate of the testing window assigned to them. CPNP and CPN candidates receive a 90-day window. PMHS candidates receive a shorter window for either the month of May or November, depending on the date of application*.

Candidates will select a date within their assigned window to test and will then contact Prometric to schedule their exam. Schedule promptly after receiving your eligibility approval and scheduling notification because many other organizations use Prometric for testing. Waiting to schedule may impact your opportunity to take the exam on your preferred date, time, or location. If you cancel less than 5 days before the end of your testing window, and Prometric cannot accommodate you with a reschedule within those 4 days prior to the end of your testing period, you will need to reapply and you must repay the application fees.

Disability Accommodations

PNCB and Prometric comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and strive to ensure that no individual with a disability is deprived of the opportunity to take the exam solely by reason of that disability. PNCB makes special testing arrangements for any candidate with a professionally diagnosed and documented disability. Under the ADA, an individual with a disability is a person who: (1) has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities; OR (2) has a record of such an impairment; OR (3) is regarded as having such an impairment.

PNCB and Prometric make every attempt to address requests for testing accommodations based upon review of documented health needs. Wheelchair access is available at all Prometric centers. In all cases, requests for special accommodations including breast pumping and documentation of disability needs are to be included at the time of application. This form is required before accommodation requests may be granted. Review the requirements for special testing accommodations at www.pncb.org or call PNCB at 1-888-641-2767 for questions. Candidates with special accommodation(s) must schedule their exam by phone with Prometric, not schedule online.

Inclement Weather, Power Failure, or Emergency

In the event of inclement weather or unforeseen emergencies on a test day, Prometric will determine whether circumstances warrant the cancellation, and subsequent rescheduling, of an exam. Prometric generally determines the night before if a center will close. To learn if your site is currently closed for appointments or will be the next day, visit: <http://www.prometric.com/sitestatus/default.htm>.

If an exam is cancelled, Prometric will contact impacted candidates to reschedule. Every attempt is made to administer the exam as scheduled. The exam will usually not be rescheduled if Prometric personnel are able to open the center. If power to a center is temporarily interrupted during an administration, your exam will restart where you left off and you will be able to continue. Prometric's policy allows for 30 minutes of interrupted time before the candidate is asked about rescheduling.

Taking the Exam at a Prometric Test Center

Your exam will be given by computer at a Prometric Test Center. You do not need computer experience or typing skills to take your exam. Candidates should arrive at the test center at least 30 minutes prior to their scheduled exam. A CANDIDATE WHO ARRIVES MORE THAN 15 MINUTES AFTER THE SCHEDULED TESTING TIME WILL NOT BE ADMITTED. We suggest you also visit <http://prometric.com/pncb> to review Prometric’s commonly asked questions regarding exam day and more.

PNCB and Prometric maintain exam administration and security standards that are designed to assure that all candidates are provided the same opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge, skills, and abilities in a fair and professional testing environment. All certification exams are monitored by at least one proctor at all times and will be continuously monitored by proctor walk-throughs and the observation window during your test. All testing sessions are video and audio recorded. You will be required to sign in and out on the roster each time you enter and leave the test room.

 - Engaging an impersonator.
 - Using a camera device.
- Violations while testing:
 - Impersonating an examinee.
 - Possessing unauthorized items in the testing room, e.g. food, electronic devices.
 - Communicating with other examinees during the testing period.
 - Failing to adhere to a proctor's instruction or request.

- Attempting to gain access to content being tested during the testing or on breaks.

 - Attempting to remove notes or documents used during testing.
- Consequences of Irregular Behavior
 - If evidence is found of a breach of exam materials before the exam administration, and evidence suggests that the behavior is organized and/or may involve a number of examinees, PNCB reserves the right to cancel the exam administration. If evidence is found of possession a camera prior to test administration, the exam administration will be cancelled. If evidence is found of a breach in the security of exam materials after an exam administration, and evidence suggests that the behavior was organized and/or may have involved a number of examinees, PNCB reserves the right to nullify the exam results of some or all examinees.
 - If violations are observed during the exam, the testing vendor will report the violations to PNCB and an investigation will ensue. If PNCB determines it has sufficient evidence of the irregular behavior, the candidate will be notified of the nature of the evidence and given an opportunity to respond in writing. If a candidate is caught with a camera while in the testing room, the camera will be confiscated and the exam immediately suspended. If exam results have not been reported, they will be withheld during the investigation, and the candidate will not be permitted to take subsequent exams until a final decision regarding irregular behavior has been made.
 - If after PNCB's review of the available information it is determined that irregular behavior has occurred, the violator's exam results will be invalidated. The candidate will either be prohibited from taking future PNCB certification exams or special procedures will be implemented for future exams. PNCB may choose to provide notice of the sanctions imposed to entities with a need to know such as a state board of nursing. Exam fees will not be refunded and PNCB may also pursue a legal remedy against the examinee(s).
 - If the irregular behavior involves unauthorized reproduction and/or distribution of exam materials or dissemination of exam content, PNCB will pursue all legal means available to protect the copyrighted materials.

Tutorial

After your identification is confirmed, you will be seated at a personal testing carrel. Prior to taking the timed exam, you will be given the opportunity to practice by taking a 15-minute tutorial on the computer. The time you use for this tutorial is not counted as part of your exam time or score. When you are comfortable with the computer testing process, you may quit the tutorial and begin the timed exam.

Timed Exam

Following the tutorial, you will begin the timed certification exam. Instructions are provided on the screen before beginning. The computer monitors the time you spend on the exam. The exam will end as soon as the time allowed for testing is reached. A digital clock that indicates the time remaining for completion of your exam will be displayed on your screen. Unlike adaptive testing used for the NCLEX exam, PNCB certification exams do not end when a passing score is determined. Your exam will only stop if you reach the end of your allotted testing period or if you finish and submit your answers for scoring before the end of your allotted testing period. You also can return to questions and change an answer before final submission.

Only one question is presented at a time. The question number appears in the lower left-hand corner of the screen. Choices of answers to the exam question are identified as A, B, C, or D. You must indicate your answer by using your mouse to click the radio (i.e., circular) button next to your answer. You may change your answer as many times as you wish during the exam time limit. To move to the next question, click on the “Next” button at the bottom of your screen. This action will move you forward through the exam question by question. If you wish to review any question previously seen, click the “Previous” button at the bottom of your screen to move backward through the exam.

An exam question may be left unanswered and returned to later in the testing session. These questions should be bookmarked for later review by clicking the “Mark” button at the bottom of your screen. Questions may also be bookmarked for later review by clicking the “Review” button at the bottom of your screen. Click the “Next” button to advance to the next unanswered or bookmarked question on the exam. When the exam is completed, the number of exam questions answered is reported. If not all questions have been answered and there is time remaining, return to the exam and answer those questions. You should answer all questions to the best of your ability. If you are uncertain about an answer, you should guess, because an unanswered “No Response” question has no chance of earning you any credit. There is no additional penalty for incorrect responses as opposed to “No Response” questions.

PNCB Exam Information

PNCB's national certification exams (CPNP and CPN) contain 175 multiple-choice items (questions). Twenty-five of the items are non-scored pre-test items and are randomly distributed throughout the exam. PNCB's Pediatric Primary Care Mental Health Specialist (PMHS) exam contains 150 items. Twenty-five of the items are non-scored pre-test items and are randomly distributed throughout the exam.

You should answer all exam items to the best of your ability. Please inform the exam proctor at your center if the exam unexpectedly ends before you have completed all test items. Report any technical difficulties to the exam proctor as well.

Each exam item has 3 to 4 suggested responses, only ONE of which is correct. Each year new exam items are pre-tested as non-scored items to determine how well they will perform before they are used in the scored portion of the exam. These pre-test questions cannot be distinguished from the scored exam items, so it is important to answer all items. Also note that each candidate's pass/fail status is determined by their responses to the scored items. Answers you provided for the pre-test items do not affect your score. Sample questions are posted at www.pncb.org, in addition to your exam's content outline (test blueprint), and possible preparatory resources.

If you experience any difficulties while at the test center, please alert the Prometric on-site test center administrator (TCA). This Prometric staff member will make every effort to remedy the situation. If the problem cannot be remedied within a reasonable amount of time – usually 30 minutes – you will be offered another date/time within your testing window to take the exam. In order to have the incident investigated by PNCB, you must:

1. Alert test center staff promptly.
2. Request a ticket number from the TCA before leaving the test center.
3. Notify PNCB via email to exam@pncb.org or call PNCB at 1-888-641-2767 (PNCB's business hours are Monday-Friday 8:30am-5:00pm ET) after you leave the test center.

Notification must be timely. PNCB staff will investigate the issue reported and follow-up with the candidate. Please be patient as this investigation could take 1-2 weeks depending on the type of issue reported.

After the Exam

Candidates are asked to complete a short evaluation after their testing experience. Candidates will then report to the proctor to receive their personal exam results indicating: Exam Status = Pass OR Exam Status = Fail. PNCB will mail most official exam results within 2-3 weeks following the exam.

If You Pass

An official congratulations letter noting your PNCB certification number, a wall certificate, and additional materials will be mailed to you. An online wallet card can also be accessed by logging in to your PNCB account and viewing "My Documents". You will also receive information about maintaining your newly earned credential through PNCB recertification. Please visit www.pncb.org for detailed information about recertification.

Using Your Credential

Our suggestion is to always list your degree first, then licensure followed by certification. Should you have any awards or honors, these come last:

- Terri Moore, BS, RN, CPN
- Patricia Johnson, PhD, RN, CPNP-AC/PC, PMHS, FAANP

Listing your highest degree first is fairly standard. If you have a non-nursing degree, this would come next then licensure. If you have multiple certifications, often people list the one earned first in the first position, and the one earned most recently in the final position. If you want to use your credentials when charting, be sure to check your employer's policy on doing so. Let others know the value of your PNCB certification by wearing your lapel pin and introducing yourself as a Certified Pediatric Nurse or Nurse Practitioner to patients, their families, and peers. Mention your credential in your hospital staff bio. PNCB credentials are federally trademarked and may only be used by those who earn and actively maintain their certification.

If You Do Not Pass

An official score report will be mailed to the majority of testers within 2-3 weeks of their testing. Your score report will provide details of your performance in each examination content area. Please review your score performance to learn more about your strengths and weaknesses in all of the exam content areas. CPNP exam candidates may take another form of the certification exam up to 4 times within a 12-month period provided PNCB exam eligibility is met at the time of reapplication. CPNP candidates who have been unsuccessful 2 or more times must contact the Customer Service Department for additional instructions. Unsuccessful CPN exam candidates may apply to retest after receiving official test results and will be assigned a different form of the exam and a new 90-day testing window, provided they still meet PNCB's eligibility criteria. You can complete your re-examination application online via the PNCB website at www.pncb.org. Please contact PNCB if you have any questions at exam@pncb.org.

CPNP Candidates Testing with a Transcript Exception

Candidates who have met criteria for a transcript exception and pass the exam will not receive official score results until the official, final transcript is received. For unsuccessful candidates who tested under the exception of final transcript posted more than 30 days after graduation, official failing exam scores will not be released and the candidate may not retest until the final transcript is received. For unsuccessful candidates enrolled in a DNP program who were granted a transcript exception, official failing exam scores are released and the candidate may retest according to PNCB's retest policy.

Pass/Fail Score Determination

PNCB examinations are criterion referenced. This means the passing score is based on predetermined criteria. Your ability to pass the examination depends on the knowledge you display, not on the performance of other candidates.

The methodology used to set the minimum passing score is the Angoff method, applied by a representative sample group of subject matter experts in the field from across the country who also hold credential you are seeking. This panel evaluated each question on the examination to determine how many correct answers are necessary to demonstrate the knowledge and skills required to pass.

How many questions do I need to get right to pass the exam?

Passing scores may vary slightly for each version of the examination. To ensure fairness to all candidates, a process of statistical equating is used. This involves the following:

1. Selecting an appropriate mix of individual questions for each version of the examination that meet the content distribution requirements of the examination content blueprint.
2. Obtaining an overall difficulty level (as each scored question has been pretested, a difficulty level is available); the standard setting process then considers the overall difficulty level of each test form.
3. Slight variations in difficulty level are determined, then addressed by adjusting the passing score up or down, depending on the overall difficulty level statistics for the group of scored questions that appear on a particular form of the examination application.

PNCB uses scaled scores that range from 200 (0 items correct) to 800 (all items correct) with a scaled score of 400 corresponding to the cut-point on the exam. This means that the passing score across all forms is 400. Using a scaled score is how a certification board may put all scores, regardless of which form the candidate takes, on the same scale, or frame of reference.

Cancellation of Scores

PNCB and Prometric are responsible for the validity and integrity of the scores they report. On occasion, occurrences, such as computer malfunction or misconduct by a candidate, may cause a score to be suspect. PNCB and Prometric reserve the right to void or withhold exam results if, upon investigation, violation of its regulations is discovered.

Exam Copyright and Confidentiality
